

Episode 56RQ March 11, 2024. Winners of the best anti wood smoke posters! It's our Oscars!

You voted for Best Poster, our own Oscars! And here are the winners!

You voted for 12 categories of nominees, and here are the winners!

1) Best Documentary Poster of Human Response to Actual Pollution from Indoor Residential Wood Burning.

1b) Humans catching PM2.5 emissions from a wood fire in a huge plastic bag.

2) Best non-Actress in a Poster.

2c) Young woman in a mantilla and holding a fan, on the Day of the Dead.

3) Best non-Actor in a Poster.

3b) One man striding through the streets of New York City during the incursion of Canadian Wildfire Smoke in June 2023.

4) Best scary neighborhood Poster.

4d) The wood burning menace image used again, this time threatening a child shoveling snow outside his home.

5) Best Reference to another movie.

5a) Reference to the Nutty Professor.

6) Best use of animal non-actors in a poster.

6b) Canary (in a coal mine).

7) Best short slogan on a poster.

7c) Air pollution damages every organ of your body (with picture of lung tissue turned to wood slivers).

8) Best drawn cartoon on a poster.

8b) A couple is walking with their child outside a house emitting clouds of indoor residential wood smoke and they are sputtering and coughing.

9) Best cartoon of an indoor residential wood stove, wood burning fireplace or outdoor wood burning, depicting the emissions as toxic to humans.

9a) Which fuel emits the most greenhouse gases? Cartoon showing coal, wood burning and natural gas burning. Wood burning is number one! (in emitting the most greenhouse gases!)

10) Best Use of a Historical Period in a poster.

10c) Reuse of a photo of the 1960s Dating Game TV stage set.

11) Best Poster, When Posters got it wrong.

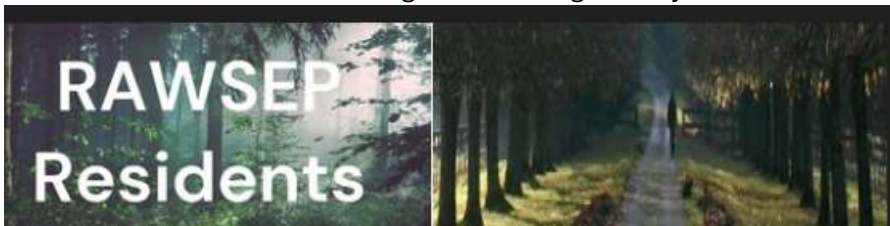

11a) A government poster's suggestion that near neighbors should gauge the opacity of wood smoke before complaining. It's not easy and it's not fun to attempt to do that. Use a PurpleAir PM2.5 monitor instead.

12) Best Poster which also mentioned an international event.

12b) Aggression by Hamas at a Peace Festival in Israel compared to aggression from indoor residential wood burning, polluting the air of near neighbors and sickening them, in a formerly peaceful residential neighborhood.

By reviewing what was Posted in 2023, and finding out what was voted best, the Academy was inspired to be more creative in 2024!

Brought to you by the Academy of Residents Against Wood Smoke Emission Particulates, a 501c3 nonprofit organization, dedicated to handing out PurpleAir PM2.5 monitors to any near neighbor who complains of indoor residential wood smoke entering the near neighbor's yard and sickening the near neighbor.
