

In Episode 57DFY 1A United States Bird flu Bird flu reinfections at US poultry farms highlight need for vaccines 2 United States Musk 3 Wisconsin Musk 4 Headlines New York Times March 28 and 27 2025 5] Headlines the Guardian March 28 2025 Main Content

1A United States and South Dakota Minnesota Colorado and North Dakota Bird flu Bird flu reinfections at US poultry farms highlight need for vaccines experts say Aggressive prevention including wider changes to poultry raising needed after at least 56 US farms doubly infected RAWSEP View Trump and Musk and RFK Junior Dismantling the Department of Health and Human Services makes development of new vaccines such as the needed vaccine against Bird Flu hard to do and harder to distribute Excerpts edited by RAWSEP for brevity and clarity and relationship to Residents Against Wood Smoke Emission Particulates a 501c3 nonprofit organization The Guardian March 28 2025 Scores of poultry operations in the US have been reinfected by bird flu since 2022 costing hundreds of millions of dollars in federal payouts The recurring outbreaks highlight the need for more aggressive prevention including poultry vaccination and changes to how poultry is farmed At least 56 poultry operations including chicken and turkey farms in the US have been infected twice by bird flu according to depopulation and reinfection records from the US Department of Agriculture USDA Another 17 poultry farms have had three rounds of infections More than half 11 of these farms are located in South Dakota The others are located in Minnesota Colorado and North Dakota The US government payout estimate is more than $75million to these farms Yet another six farms have experienced four outbreaks of H5N1 the documents show All of these farms are located in South Dakota and they have received an estimated $23million in payments A spokesperson for the USDA told the Guardian that 67 commercial poultry operations had been reinfected at least once with 18 farms infected three or more times Farms with reinfections have received more than $365million in federal payments the USDA announced while unveiling a plan to require a biosecurity audit before farms receive more indemnity payments The USDA has paid more than 1 point 1 billion to more than 1200 poultry producers for culling and replacing their flocks Average US egg prices hit a record high of five dollars and 90 cents a dozen in February according to consumer price data The USDA says egg prices could rise another 41 percent this year At the same time egg producers have posted record profits The Trump administration recently unveiled a new plan to battle this current outbreak which has sickened 70 Americans and killed one person in Louisiana The $1billion plan focuses on improving biosecurity including free biosecurity audits and reducing regulations It also invests $100million in potential treatments and vaccines and it increases payouts for farms that cull infected flocks Biosecurity in poultry farming often involves sanitizing equipment vehicles and facilities as well as restricting the number of people who can access chicken houses and testing animals But experts say more changes to how birds are raised could make outbreaks less common Large densely packed facilities make outbreaks harder to contain but smaller operations could reduce the risks of outbreaks Sharing workers across poultry operations may also be spreading the virus said an assistant professor of environmental studies at New York University The workers are moving in between the houses checking up on the hens depopulating and repopulating the flocks administering more feed So it is often the case that when an operation gets infected that it is not just one of their barns it is often two or more While biosecurity can help reduce outbreaks it seems like biosecurity measures alone are not enough to prevent the spread of this virus said an assistant professor of animal and veterinary sciences We need to reconsider

Youtube QR

Spotify QR

Website QR

vaccinating our poultry flocks to minimize the production losses and prevent potential pandemics. It is important to take aggressive action now before the virus mutates to become transmissible among people. If it transmits from humans to humans it will be more catastrophic than the coronavirus pandemic. Egg laying hens live longer than birds raised for their meat known as broilers. While broilers live about eight weeks, hens may lay eggs for three or four years. When they are culled it can take five or six months before the new birds start laying eggs. That means vaccinating hens could prevent some of the egg shortages and high prices now being seen across the US. As long as we are eating eggs in this present and future bird flu situation, vaccinations have to be a part of that answer. Egg prices are up because of shortages and because companies are noticing a higher consumer willingness to pay when they see occasional interruptions. In order for prices to come down, we do not just need to increase the supply, but the supply needs to get more reliable. The main challenge to vaccination is not the cost of the vaccines themselves. Vaccinated birds need to be tested to make sure they are not infected asymptotically, and there are limitations on exporting meat and eggs from vaccinated chickens. But nowadays with technology – we can overcome this. That includes tests that distinguish between antibodies from infections versus vaccination. The administration could also incentivize producers to use more humane and quicker depopulation methods, said a policy adviser at the Animal Welfare Institute. We continue to reimburse producers over and over again for infections that occur. Around half repeatedly used ventilation shutdown plus heat to depopulate their animals, a method she called one of the most horrific. The US could also help embattled poultry producers move into new forms of agriculture like growing beans or mushrooms. The incentives are going in the wrong direction. The only option of farmers to get paid for the flocks that they have lost is to repopulate that flock. That means farms are continuing to go back to the well in order to recoup their losses.

1B United States Guest Essay by Hillary Clinton This Is Just Dumb Excerpts edited by RAWSEP for brevity and clarity and relationship to Residents Against Wood Smoke Emission Particulates a 501c3 nonprofit organization. The New York Times, March 28, 2025. It is not the hypocrisy that bothers me, it is the stupidity. We are all shocked, shocked! that President Trump and his team do not actually care about protecting classified information or federal record retention laws. But we knew that already. What is much worse is that top Trump officials put our troops in jeopardy by sharing military plans on a commercial messaging app and unwittingly invited a journalist into the chat. That is dangerous. And it is just dumb. This is the latest in a string of self-inflicted wounds by the new administration that are squandering the strength of America and threatening our national security. Firing hundreds of federal workers charged with protecting our United States nuclear weapons is also dumb. So is shutting down efforts to fight pandemics. It makes no sense to purge talented generals, diplomats, and spies at a time when rivals like China and Russia are trying to expand their global reach. In a dangerous and complex world, it is not enough to be strong. You must also be smart. Because smart power means integrating the hard power of our military with the soft power of our diplomacy, development assistance, economic might, and cultural influence. None of those tools can do the job alone. Together they make America a superpower. The Trump approach is dumb power. Instead of a strong America using all our strengths to lead the world and confront our adversaries, the Trump America will be increasingly blind and blundering, feeble and friendless. Let us start with the military because that is what he claims to care about. People and leaders around the world are watching to see if democracy can still deliver peace and prosperity or even function. If America is ruled like a banana republic with flagrant corruption and a leader who puts himself above the law, we lose that.

Youtube QR

Spotify QR

Website QR

argument We also lose the qualities that have made America exceptional and indispensable Maybe Trump wants to return to the nineteenth century spheres of influence Maybe he is just driven by personal grudges and is in way over his head As a businessman he bankrupted his Atlantic City casinos Now he is gambling with the national security of the United States If this continues a group chat foul will be the least of our concerns and all the fist and flag emojis in the world will not save us

2 United States Trump administration Musk defends Doge and cuts on Fox News A Musk Quote is that Almost no one has gotten fired Doge members including Airbnb co founder aired their vision for federal government to be Apple Store like RAWSEP View Musk is visiting Wisconsin now that he thinks handing out money in a lottery will make him less unpopular A list of nine reasons Musk should not be firing people through DOGE follows Actions speak louder than words The interests of the American people are not being served by Elon Musk In fact many necessary people have been unnecessarily fired by Elon Musk leaving America less safe and leaving it more likely without an adequate government response on health matters to begin with including vaccine availability that Americans will become ill more often and die sooner If Bird Flu becomes a pandemic the United States needs an adequate response led by the Department of Health an Human Services which is now unnecessarily being dismantled by Trump The nine points about the effect of Musk actions on the American people are that 1 Social Security will become harder to access by the people who have paid into Social Security their entire working lives 2 Musk has called Social Security without evidence a Ponzi scheme 3 Musk has said without evidence that many Social Security recipients are defrauding the government 4 Sensitive Social Security information is available to Musk in a breach of government rules 5 Musk has called on judges to be impeached if they rule against him 6 The majority of American voters disapprove of the Musk DOGE initiative 8 Musk is personally unpopular with many people if not the majority of people in the United States 7 There is very little public transparency into how the DOGE is operating and what savings it is actually making 8 The Doge public wall of receipts website is full of errors and 9 Musk has lost $100 billion due to a slump in Tesla stock this year Excerpts edited by RAWSEP for brevity and clarity and relationship to Residents

Against Wood Smoke Emission Particulates a 501c3 nonprofit organization The Guardian March 27 2025 Elon Musk and seven members of his so called department of government efficiency sat down for a rare interview on Thursday evening defending their efforts amid public backlash and concern over cuts to key government agencies Musk and team members repeatedly attempted to assuage fears over the Doge targeting of agencies such as the Social Security Administration Musk also downplayed the number of government employees his initiative has targeted in cuts saying it was a small percentage of the overall government workforce and others left voluntarily Basically almost no one has gotten fired Musk claimed His initiative has planned to lay off or offer buyouts to 100000 federal employees although courts have ordered thousands of workers to be reinstated after finding they were illegally fired a person holds a sign that reads recall doge A Doge shuts federal workplace mediator agency after Trump order Musk and his team at Doge have rapidly accumulated power across federal agencies since inauguration day They have led the dismantling of USAID the largest single source of humanitarian aid in the world as well as fired thousands of government workers Doge staffers and Musk allies have also gained access to sensitive government data as well as been placed in key positions at major government agencies Asked about the report that cuts at the Social Security Administration caused the agency website to repeatedly crash and resulted in long waits Musk claimed that he would keep the website online and increase benefits Legitimate recipients of social security will receive more money not less money Musk said Let

Youtube QR

Spotify QR

Website QR

the record show that I said this Other members of Doge touted their previous experience working as tech executives claiming that they could import ideas from Silicon Valley and private enterprises into government We really believe that the government can have an Apple Store like experience said a Doge team member who co founded Airbnb The interview on Thursday took place as nationwide protests are planned against Musk at Tesla showrooms this coming weekend Doge is also facing nearly two dozen lawsuits that allege Musk and his team acted without legal authority while violating privacy and transparency laws He has reacted to the legal pushback and rulings of judges against Trump by calling on Congress to impeach justices and radically overhaul the judicial system Polling shows that the majority of American voters disapprove of the Musk initiative with attitudes to Doge largely divided along partisan lines the Musk own favorability among Americans is similar according to a survey taken in late January which found Americans overall hold a more negative view of the Tesla CEO There is very little public transparency into how the initiative is operating and what savings it is actually making Analyses of the Doge public wall of receipts website have found it full of errors and the site has deleted billions in claimed savings from its ledger without explanation In the same interview Musk said he was running his group of businesses which include X SpaceX and Tesla with great difficulty because of his work with the Trump administration Musk has lost $100 billion from his personal fortune due to a slump in Tesla stock this year

3 Wisconsin Elon Musk is heading back to the campaign trail RAWSEP View Openly paying for votes is apparently legal Perhaps Musk can count on the mercy of the court in allowing a desperate and unpopular car dealer who is not allowed to sell cars in Wisconsin to have another chance with a new Conservative Wisconsin Supreme Court aligned with the fervent wish of Musk for a Tesla monopoly on electric cars whether the people of Wisconsin want it or not In the mind of Musk this Wisconsin election is exclusively about Tesla Hopefully in the minds of Wisconsin voters this election is about fair administration of justice to all the people of Wisconsin and if that is the voters choice they will vote for Susan Crawford If Crawford wins Wisconsin will not be closely linked with the Trump Musk national agenda that is headed by tariffs and other economic loser ideas which will raise the cost of goods and services $3000 for each of the next 4 years in order to pay for Federal tax breaks for the rich including Musk The editor of RAWSEP is just saying that there is a link between Liberal Candidate Susan Crawford and Impartial Justice for all in Wisconsin no matter if they are rich middle class or poor in Wisconsin And there is a secondary link between Musk Schimel and money and influence which is apparently unchecked in Wisconsin at this time During his time in Wisconsin the editor of RAWSEP expects Musk to hand out money for influence If that money is $100 for filling out a survey or one Million dollars to a secretly selected Wisconsin voter with Musk strings attached it will be undemocratic and the majority that do not win the lottery those Republican voters hoping to strike it rich in a Musk lottery will pay that same $12000 price over the next four years along with all other Wisconsinites if the Musk bribes work in the next few days Excerpts edited by RAWSEP for brevity and clarity and relationship to Residents Against Wood Smoke Emission Particulates a 501c3 nonprofit organization Musk the Republican megadonor said early Friday that he would be going to Wisconsin apparently to campaign for the conservative candidate in a high profile judicial contest The visit two days before the vote on Tuesday appears to be his most direct engagement in the State Supreme Court election which is being watched closely as a test of the Musk influence Musk will deliver remarks in the state on Sunday evening March 30 2025 Musk said on X without releasing other details Nor did he mention the candidate Brad Schimel by

Youtube QR

Spotify QR

Website QR

name saying simply that he would give a talk in Wisconsin. Musk is reprising a few of the tactics he used in the final weeks of the presidential election when he traveled across Pennsylvania to assist the 2024 Trump campaign with a series of town halls. Musk is once again issuing personal checks to those who sign a petition that his super PAC is circulating to registered voters and awarding $1 million randomly in sweepstakes like gifts to signers. The latest petition from Musk in Wisconsin is opposed to what he calls the actions of activist judges. Musk is also offering a new twist on at least some of these petition payouts making them conditional not only on signing the petition and being a registered voter but also on having already voted a legally contentious escalation of his program. Musk said in his Friday post that he would personally hand over two checks for a million dollars each in appreciation for you taking the time to vote. The Musk super PAC has awarded a $1 million check to one Wisconsin voter who signed the petition. The Musk super PAC has been encouraging early voting in the contest and the post on Friday offered another example of how. Unlike the Pennsylvania town halls the March 30 2025 Sunday event would be open only to those who had already voted in the Supreme Court election. Musk said without specifying how this requirement would be enforced. Musk has been stepping up his words and his spending in aid of Judge Schimel who if elected to the Wisconsin Supreme Court could weigh in on abortion policy redistricting and even on the Tesla business in the state. Though Musk and allied groups have spent more than $20 million on the campaign he expressed doubt about the chances of victory saying on Thursday that Judge the odds of Judge Schimel to win were difficult but not impossible.

4A Headlines New York Times March 28 2025 United States EPA Offers a Way to Avoid Clean Air Rules Send an Email The New York Times United States Law Firm Skadden Arps Seeks Deal to Avert Trump Executive Order The New York Times United States Mining Company Seeks Trump Support to Shortcut Access to Seabed Metals The New York Times United States Opinion Of Course People Are Angry Four Columnists Unpack What the Democrats Are Missing The New York Times United States Opinion Do not Throw Our Boys to the Wolves Online The New York Times United States Opinion Hillary Clinton This Is Just Dumb The New York Times United States Senate Overturns Rule Limiting Bank Overdraft Fees to $5 The New York Times United States The Nail Artist Mei Kawajiri and the Mind Boggling Creations The New York Times United States Top Senate Republican Protests Trump Bid to Withhold Spending The New York Times United States Trump Moves to End Federal Union Protections Across Government The New York Times United States Trump Targets WilmerHale Citing The Law Firm Connection to Robert Mueller The New York Times United States The Trump Attitude Toward Classified Materials Trickle Down to His Aides The New York Times United States Under Trump The Kennedy Center Classical Offerings Will Mostly Go On The New York Times United States With Car Tariffs Trump Puts His Unorthodox Trade Theory to the Test The New York Times California Hollywood Has Not Recovered Jobs Lost During Strikes Report Says The New York Times California How The Great Gatsby Took Over Pop Culture The New York Times California Justice Dept Will Investigate California Universities Over Race in Admissions The New York Times Texas Floods Sweep South Texas and Nearby Border Cities in Mexico The New York Times Wisconsin Elon Musk and DOGE Aides Try a Charm Offensive in Fox News Interview The New York Times Wisconsin Elon Musk to Campaign in Wisconsin Ahead of Supreme Court Election The New York Times Turkey For Some Autocrats Even Rigged Elections Can Be Too Much of a Threat The New York Times Yemen Judge Moves to Prevent Houthi Texts The New York Times

Youtube QR

Spotify QR

Website QR

4B Headlines New York Times March 27 2025 United States 10000 Federal Health Workers to Be Laid Off The New York Times United States EPA Offers a Way to Avoid Clean Air Rules Send an Email The New York Times United States The Facebook New Friends Tab Brings App Back to Its Roots The New York Times United States Girls to the Front Punk Pioneers Are Coming to Lincoln Center The New York Times United States Trump Asks Stefanik to Withdraw Bid to Be UN Ambassador The New York Times United States With Car Tariffs Trump Puts His Unorthodox Trade Theory to the Test The New York Times Arizona Living Car Free in Arizona on Purpose and Happily The New York Times California Warner Bros Still Awaits The David Zaslav Promised Renaissance The New York Times New York How to Beat Cuomo and Adams The Working Families Party Has a Plan The New York Times Wisconsin Elon Musk Has a Chef for His Tesla Diner The New York Times Wisconsin and Canada Tesla Dealers Claimed They Sold 8653 Cars in 3 Days in Canada Did They The New York Times Canada Prime Minister Says US Is No Longer a Reliable Partner on Trade The New York Times Egypt Tomb of Unknown Pharaoh Is Unearthed in Egypt The New York Times Italy Pope Francis Came Near Death in Hospital His Doctor Says The New York Times Philippines Opinion Duterte Is Enjoying the Due Process He Denied to His Thousands of Victims The New York Times Sweden Opinion The Problem With Sweden Is Sweden The New York Times Yemen Bondi Suggests Signal Chat Episode Is Unlikely to Be Criminally Investigated The New York Times Yemen The Signal Leak Has Little Precedent The New York Times Yemen Signal Leak Shows Trump Only Takes Federal Secrets Seriously When It Suits Him The New York Times Yemen Opinion The Substance of the Group Chat Was Unserious Too The New York Times

5 Headlines The Guardian March 28 2025 United States Bird flu reinfections at US poultry farms highlight need for vaccines experts say Bird flu The Guardian United States Donald Trump moves to end union rights for many government agency employees US politics live United States Fired FTC commissioner sounds blinking red alarm over apparent rise of billionaire power under Trump The Trump administration The Guardian United States Trump executive order on Smithsonian targets funding for improper ideology Trump administration The Guardian United States Trump unwilling to fire Waltz or others involved in Signal chat leak officials say Signal group chat leak The Guardian California Raw romantic and radical Joan Baez Her 20 greatest songs ranked! Joan Baez The Guardian California So long Scorsese! Is The Studio the TV show that will finally kill off Hollywood Television The Guardian Wisconsin Musk defends Doge and cuts on Fox News Almost no one has gotten fired The Guardian Canada End of an era for Canada US ties says Carney as allies worldwide decry the Trump car tariffs Trump tariffs The Guardian United Kingdom Why the weasel testicles Cambridge show explains medieval medicine History of science The Guardian RAWSEP View Robert F Kennedy Junior is presented with a new alternative medicine to contemplate from the Middle Ages Sweden The heat you need at a reasonable price how district heating can speed the switch to clean energy Swedish Energy efficiency The Guardian Yemen Private data of Trump officials in Signal scandal accessible online report Signal group chat leak The Guardian Yemen The Signal fiasco is a political gift to Democrats but their power is limited Signal group chat leak The Guardian Yemen Judge orders participants in Signal chat group blunder to preserve all messages Signal group chat leak The Guardian China looks south as it seeks to reduce reliance on a capricious United States China The Guardian

Youtube QR

Spotify QR

Website QR

