On the Magic Mountain

Decades before Davos Switzerland

became famous as a pilgrimage site for global elites attending the annual meeting of the World Economic Forum!

Davos was best known as a destination for well-to-do invalids seeking respiratory relief in the crisp Alpine air!

It was that reputation that brought Thomas Mann to Davos!

(where his wife was convalescing) for a three-week visit in 1912, inspiring his great novel, "The Magic Mountain," published in 1924!

At its heart lies an argument between two fiercely held and fatally flawed worldviews!

The first is represented by an earnest

but naïve pacifist and internationalist!

The second comes from a proto-totalitarian figure!

who thinks that the ideals of freedom are an illusion

and that humanity's "deepest desire is to obey!"

Talk about the need for renewable energy is put to the side in 2026! One person at a meeting said There are windmills all over Europe and they are losers! A different attendee said If you do not have good land and good soil, you cannot have sustainable supply chains! Steep reductions in particulate matter pollution have added 1 point 4 years to the average American's life expectancy since 1970 one study found! But the current US EPA. has put a value on human life of zero dollars!
