Frolicking around Switzerland

A California dreamer rated the presidential speech

"Had there not been cellphones,

I think a few people would have passed out from boredom."

In response he was disinvited to a fireside chat

And you know RAWSEP is happy about that

He was invited to a nightcap reception

An alcohol prescription stay awake seems par for the course at this wake

For these science adverse fakes

The presidential speech was a mélange of threats

The perfect storm of his incompetence

Humiliation has come to stalk him apace
