

Webisode 57DHYAFZXR January 30 2026 A Russian Drone can kill you faster than smoking

A Russian Drone can kill you faster than smoking

The train was not stopped for fuel stoking

A Drone can kill you faster than smoking

Said his wife who was not on the train,

She might ask him to later quit or refrain

His luckiest break was smoking a cigarette

In the corridor lined with windows and leatherette

He then heard the sound of a diving Russian drone, followed by an explosion when completely flown.

The Ukrainian Railways train, where the man was alone had 200 passengers and was attacked by three drones.

the latest in Russia's monthslong campaign against the rail infrastructure in Ukraine

It had hit his carriage. The doors back to it were blocked.

He climbed outside, ran around the burning car clocked and climbed back in to try to help friends detained.

He recalled carrying his friend's wife away from the train.

It happened in the Kharkiv region of eastern Ukraine

"I saw my friend's wife walking toward me; she was covered in blood,"

As they hid under trees, they heard another drone flying over their heads.

After the attack, the burning carriages were disconnected away and the remaining 10 cars continued the journey. After a 5 hour delay

The train, with 147 passengers still on board, arrived at the next station

There, passengers were provided with food by World Central Kitchen.

Here in the US we get alerts about smoke from wood fires

News of wars in the US is not on our local newswires

His wife feels he is lucky to have survived

Providence comes whatever way it can arrive.