Induction into the All Electric Luxury Kitchen Hall of Fame

The Grid supplying power to the electric induction stove is not a game

If the Grid is powered by Wind and Solar not dirty energy like Wood Burning

Then your path to the Hall of Fame is on glide path to churning

Out a statuette that recognizes your incremental contribution

To reducing PM 2 point 5 pollution and attaining a global warming solution

Especially if you are currently using a stove either indoors or out

That is powered by natural gas or in an incomprehensible redoubt

a temporary or supplementary fortification, typically square or polygonal and without flanking defenses is the military affair:

For instance the use of redoubt in a sentence

For example this description of cinema genesis

"the use of old-fashioned film is moribund, mainly survivalists

In the redoubts of professional photographers and hobbyists"

Wood burning is also used by survivalists

Ironically wood burning puts you on a survival short list

Wood burning is aesthetically unpleasing and cost prohibitively expensive

Wood burning which if you look at ads makes you look pensive

For all the wrong reasons such as coughing up a storm

With PM 2 point 5 retained in your lungs moving like a worm

You stare into a wood fire but in actuality breathe in wood smoke

That will shorten your life and leave you in no doubt

Where your choice of charring both your meals and lungs came from

So lighten up only metaphorically and join the Hall of Fame

Your electric induction stove assures you a seat not inflamed

Get on your best glad rags and join the queue

Of those who really are in the know!
