The Moderna mRNA Flu Vaccine
Will get FDA review and screen

FDA had said the Moderna research design was flawed
But after initial Moderna application rejection, a thaw Unexplained to the public but there will be a review after all, after widespread uproar about the FDA view Among scientists. And the FDA withdrew From its stance and allowed FDA flu review Moderna said the FDA had set an August deadline to decide whether to approve the vaccine.

If it is authorized, it will be available for adults over 65 when flu season later in 2026 for everyone arrives.

No mRNA-based flu vaccine has been approved anywhere in the world. Regulators have under review in Europe, Canada and Australia the Moderna vaccine for the flu.
Winning approval for the flu vaccine is central to future growth Of Moderna. Moderna's stock was up 6 percent on the hope Wednesday morning of approval by the US FDA.

The company's stock has plummeted quite a way since its peak during the Covid pandemic, as it has struggled to come up with a second act amid declining demand for Covid shots. In the Trump first term, the government regime enthusiastically supported the mRNA-based Covid vaccines.
But in the past year, the second Trump administrating has turned inexplicably against the technology, sending shockwaves through the vaccine industry . Hundreds of millions of dollars in research contracts and projects are dead because canceled, and agencies under the RFK Junior purview have sharply limited the recommendations for certain groups to be administered Covid vaccines. Preferential to over 65s

All other age groups seem set adrift to stay alive
Without any help from modern Moderna science And the advances made in mRNA reliance Are RFK Junior views based on science?

One must approach RFK Junior with patience
As his voice cracks and warps and lacks cadence
And when understood his ideas lack coherence Since RFK Junior has no science degree Nor interest in learning in the midst of his spree Intent on limiting safe and effective therapies
One can only parse his intensions from a recent interview RFK Junior stated that he was not afraid of germs
He has bravely lived for years with needles and worms
In his brain which seems as distorted as his voice
His explanation is that he snorted coke off toilet seats Moderna reported that its study had found the vaccine to be safe and effective. It worked well and clean across age groups in preventing flu cases. Side effects were mild, like fatigue, muscle pain, headache and pain at the injection site.

Needless to say these findings were based on science
Not on whether RFK Junior can find a seat that is compliant.
With any other person this would be a subject of merriment
But inexplicably RFK Junior has been put in a seat of judgement.
