Dump broke his country
Optimistic Song Cycle One
Militarily Dump conceded the Iran War
Ethically we threaten other countries
With loss of civilian water and food
Ethically we threaten the world
With nuclear radiation after bombing
Financially Dump conceded gas prices
And fertilizer prices will continue to go up Truthfully we all now see that Dump projects
His own failures and bad intentions onto others
His imagination only goes so far as his inward
Greed and malice projected onto others Song Cycle Two tells us what the US could Evolve into if we do not stop the breakage Song Cycle Three tells us that Putin and Orban planned to fake an assassination
Attempt in order to raise Orban popularity
For some reason that was not pulled off
Let us not continue on this course of fakery
And collusion with present Russia and Hungary

Putin broke his country
Optimistic Song Cycle Two
Militarily Putin is losing the Ukraine War
It is a war of attrition which cannot continue Estimates suggest that approximately 325,000
Russian soldiers have been killed in Ukraine, with verified counts exceeding 150,000.
Verified Deaths According to a joint tally by BBC
Russian and Mediazona, at least 152,142
Russian military deaths have been confirmed through open-source verification such as obituaries and court records. This count includes only Russian citizens and excludes fighters from the Donetsk and Luhansk regions. The highest confirmed fatalities were reported in Bashkortostan (7,643), Tatarstan (6,599), and Sverdlovsk (5,386), with smaller numbers in Moscow (4,520) and Chechnya (372). Verified deaths disproportionately affect residents of small towns and rural areas. The Moscow Times

Orban broke his country
Optimistic Song Cycle Three
Polling shows that Orban is set to lose an election
On April 12 in Hungary to Peter Magyar.
Comparisons of Orban to Dump are not flattering Orban won the 2010 Hungarian election as an ultra-nationalist, Hard right, antisemitic populist. He has won every election since then and he and his pals are the richest people in Hungary. Elections are still free, but almost all the country's media are owned by his allies. Relentless propaganda tells Hungarians that they are permanently besieged by foreign and domestic enemies: decadent liberals, the European Union (although Hungary remains a member, presumably for the subsidies) and NATO. Not to mention Ukraine.
Orban infiltrates NATO in order to block funds to Ukraine needed in war against Russian aggression that of course also threatens the rest of free democratic Europe.
Putin and Orban planned to fake an assassination Attempt in order to raise Orban popularity
For some reason that was not pulled off. Let us not in the US continue on this course of fakery
And collusion with present Russia and Hungary

Newsom can fix the US Optimistic Song Cycle Four
Governor Newsom positions California as a national public health leader by championing science-backed policies in stark contrast to the Dump administration. Federal funding cuts and rollbacks of vaccine recommendations are forcing local health departments to close clinics as measles cases surge nationwide. California and other Democratic-led states form coalitions to recommend vaccines the Dump administration has rescinded, fearing a looming public health crisis.

Ukraine can fix Putin

Optimistic Song Cycle Five

Zelenskiy to relay energy truce proposal to US, seeks reciprocal halt to attacks. Kremlin reacts coolly, it has no detailed truce proposal. Ukraine cites allies' concerns over oil strikes, vows to defend Donbas industrial towns

Ukraine can fix Orban

Optimistic Song Cycle Six

A bitter dispute pitting Hungary and Slovakia against Ukraine is holding up a crucial ninety billion euro seventy seven point ninety five billion pound European Union loan to Ukraine.

No oil has flowed through the Druzhba (Friendship) pipeline, from Russia to Hungary and Slovakia across Ukraine, since the major oil hub at Brody, in western Ukraine, was damaged in a Russian attack on 27 January. While Ukraine argues that it will need six more weeks to repair the damage and restore the oil flow, Budapest accuses Kyiv of stalling, as revenge for Hungary's pro-Russian and anti-Ukrainian position.

Courts can fix the US

Optimistic Song Cycle Seven

A Federal judge rules Dump order ending National Public Radio NPR and the Public Broadcasting Service PBS funding was Unconstitutional on March 31. A federal judge ordered the Dump administration to pause construction on its White House ballroom absent "express authorization from Congress" on March 31, throwing the four hundred million dollar project's future into question. Dump says Justices Barrett, Gorsuch 'sicken me' after the Supreme Court tariff ruling,

Europe can fix Ukraine

Optimistic Song Cycle Eight

On October 15, 2025, Germany pledged more than two billion dollars in military aid for Ukraine, as the government in Kyiv signaled that it would need one hundred twenty billion dollars in 2026 to stave off Russia's nearly four-year all-out war.

The European Union can fix Ukraine

Optimistic Song Cycle Nine

On March 31, European Union top diplomats visited Bucha Ukraine to mark 2022 massacre. The European Union's top diplomat Kaja Kallas and several European Union foreign ministers voiced their support for Ukraine's demand for accountability over Russian atrocities committed in Bucha, as they visited the small town on the fourth anniversary of a massacre there.

The rates and program availability may change after this date.

2 The UK can fix the UK

Optimistic Song Cycle Eleven

Heat Pumps required in new housing

Future Homes Standard. The March 2026 UK plan includes the Future Homes Standard, which mandates that all new homes in England be "zero-carbon ready" starting from 2027.

This standard will require the use of heat pumps as the default heating technology in new builds, replacing traditional fossil fuel systems. The regulations aim to transition away from gas boilers and promote the use of low-carbon heating systems, with heat pumps becoming mandatory in new housing developments.

Europe can fix Europe

Optimistic Song Cycle Twelve

Environmental Cancer Legislation

Cutting air pollution should form part of government strategies to reduce cancer rates, the European Code Against Cancer has recommended. The code previously focused on advice to help people to reduce the air pollution that they breathe. But, for the first time since its launch in 1987, it has given clear direction to governments. "Policymakers should aim to meet the World Health Organization (WHO) global air quality guidelines for outdoor air pollution without delay, while also reducing indoor air pollution and supporting climate goals. The key message is that this needs action at EU, national and local level." Tobacco smoking is the leading cause of lung cancer but, across Europe, 28,000 cases a year can also be attributed to particle pollution. It is estimated that lung cancer deaths would be reduced by more than 10% by meeting WHO guidelines for air pollution. There is increasing evidence that air pollution is associated with bladder, kidney and brain cancers and that air pollution can affect survival rates. With home woodburning increasing, the code calls on governments to discourage and phase out solid fuels for heating, cooking and recreation. It also calls for incentives for the installation of home energy systems that do not pollute, such as heat pumps, solar power and geothermal energy.

A cat can remind us of our humanity

Optimistic Song Cycle Thirteen

Alternatives exist to fossil fuels and wood burning

Cat lives are cut short by resorting to wood burning

They have lungs like humans have

Man's beautiful icon can tell us to stop pollution
When they like us keel over from the pollution

A dog can remind us of our humanity
Optimistic Song Cycle Fourteen
Alternatives exist to fossil fuels and wood burning
Dog lives are cut short by resorting to wood burning
They have lungs like humans have Man's best friend can tell us to stop pollution
When they like us keel over from the pollution

A community can remind us of our humanity
Optimistic Song Cycle Fifteen
Alternatives exist to fossil fuels and wood burning
Communities are cut short by resorting to wood burning Groups of people have groups of lungs like humans have Statistics can tell the story about what has existed before
So present people do not have to act like guinea pigs
We no longer have anything left to prove about wood burning
It is a European Union representative says "It is important to make air quality information easily available, involve communities in local plans and protect vulnerable groups, for example around schools and care settings."
Where this is not possible, indoor air filters should be installed.
